SaaS Product Support Jedi

My background in full-stack development, combined with a passion for solving complex technical challenges, makes me a perfect fit for your SaaS Product Support Jedi role. Having built and deployed production-ready web applications, I am deeply familiar with the technical landscape you operate in, including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and API integrations. I don't just write code; I understand how it functions in a production environment, which allows me to troubleshoot issues effectively and communicate technical solutions clearly to clients. My experience managing projects on GitHub and working with databases ensures I can navigate your technical stack with ease. Beyond the code, I thrive on client interaction. Whether it is explaining a feature or resolving a bug, I enjoy the process of turning technical hurdles into positive user experiences. My C1 English proficiency and experience in remote, self-driven environments align perfectly with your need for a proactive team member who can handle high-pressure support scenarios. I am eager to bring my technical curiosity and problem-solving mindset to your team to help maintain your high standards for product support. I would love to discuss how my hands-on experience with AI integrations and web development can contribute to the success of Award Force and Good Grants. Are you available for a brief call next week to explore how I can support your clients?

Atentamente,

Jorge Jaime Sena
